

Michael J. Golightly

Senior Research Scientist, Space Science
Center at University of New Hampshire

He has over 28 years of experience in ground and space-based ionizing radiation measurements and operational radiation protection in positions in the military, DoD, industry and academia, including 5 years as a U.S. Naval Radiation Health Officer and 15 years as a NASA scientist with the Space Radiation Analysis Group at the Johnson Space Center. He has a BS in chemistry from the U.S. Naval Academy.